WOOL MARKET STILL QUIET BUT VERY FIRM IN TONE

No Excitement in Boston, Says Report, But Prospect Is That Prices Will Not Be Any Lower.

The Boston Commercial Bulletin says of last week's Boston wool market:

The week has been in large measure a repetition of those which have immediately preceded it, except for the exceptionally large arrivals of foreign wool amounting to almost 17 million pounds, as may be ascertained by glancing at the figures of wool in transit. Of this wool which has come into port this week it is said that 80 or 85 per cent of it has been sold to arrive, although some of it doubtless was purchased by dealers speculatively and is still available to go into consumption. However, a very large proportion of it, doubtless 75 per cent, has been purchased by the mills and is being rapidly approved as a general thing on the docks.

Of the sales which have been made here this week a very large proportion has been foreign wool to arrive but a little domestic wool has also changed hands and some spot foreign wools. Domestic scoured sorts are irregular in price and not any more active than they were a week ago.

Values are generally speaking, on a firm level. The dullness has necessarily had its effect on the prices of certain domestic wools but fundamentally the market is strong and there seems little likelihood of much change in the near future. Buyers all along the line show a disposition to wait, although there seems to be a bit more acceleration towards the consuming end of the trade.

Out west business seems to be dragging along slowly. One estimate places the quantity of wool contracted up to date at something like 19 to 25 million pounds, which would seem to be an ample estimate. The dealers have been generally inactive during the past week. Manufacturers' agents appear to have taken a little wool, however, notably in the Yakima (Washington) valley, where wools have been purchased with some freedom at around 65 to 70 cents, clean landed Boston, the former being for wools of a half blood and medium grade and the latter being the estimated cost for fine wools. Prices in the grease are said to vary anywhere from 19 to 25 cents.

Elsewhere through the west comparatively little business has been reported this week. Trays lots being picked up here and there at recent rates but there is far from being any excitement about the business that is now going on.

Only small quantities of New Mexican wools are in demand this week at the prices demanded by holders. Some of the latter grade wool is understood to have changed hands at full recent rates of about 65 to 69 cents, clean basis, for fairly fine wool. Good fine territory, were it to be had in any quantity, would doubtless bring about 75 cents. No business in medium territory, other than the sale of quarter blood reported last week at 33 cents, is announced.

Scoured wools have been rather inactive and are about 5 to 7 1/2 per cent lower than they were at the high point of the market a few weeks ago.

While some eastern buyers are said to have been sold at around 65 to 68 cents, many dealers will not accept less than 68 cents for their wools and some choice wools are held above this figure, still. There is, indeed, little demand for any sort of scoured wool and like everything else, the endeavor to force it on the market causes a reduction in price. Coarser carpet wools which have been in demand for clothing purposes have been quiet, too, and weaker.

COMMISSIONER IS LOOKING FOR A BIG INCREASE

Ervin Says Receipts of State Land Office This Year Should Reach Half Million, Gain of $150,000.

Santa Fe, March 31.—That the receipts resulting from sales and leases of state lands this year will amount to about $450,000, or at least $150,000 more than in 1914 was announced today by Land Commissioner R. P. Ervin.

The selection of approximately 500,000 acres in Chaves and Eddy counties in the past month has resulted in a great deal of protest from that section of the state. It is claimed that such extensive selections in one county make it impossible for homesteaders to settle in these counties. Concerning these protests Mr. Ervin made the following statement:

"The state lands represent a heritage for the children of New Mexico, to be used in their education. This office always endeavors to select the best lands that can be obtained, and when there is a protest that we have secured the best land I consider it in the light of a compliment. About one-fifth of the land selected in Chaves and Eddy counties is being sold, and the remainder will be leased."

BOUNDARY FIGHT IS TO GO ON DECLARES ATTORNEY GENERAL

Santa Fe, N. M., March 31.—Attorney General Chaney has announced that the Texas-New Mexico boundary suit will go on to a conclusion, legislative failure to supply funds, and statements to the contrary notwithstanding. The attorney general has given out the following statement:

"I have seen two or three articles in El Paso papers which have been called to my attention to the effect that the failure of our legislature to appropriate money to prosecute the boundary suit would have the effect of compelling New Mexico to abandon the case, the last item being to the effect that the non-action of the New Mexico legislature makes it look 'as if the New Mexico legislature did not have much confidence in the justice of the New Mexico claim.'"

"It might, with equal propriety, be said that the failure of the Texas legislature to appropriate any money at all for the defense of the suit, indicates that the legislature has no faith in the justice of the claim of Texas to the disputed land, and that, therefore, Texas would be compelled to abandon the defense. From all that I know about the matter, it seems certain that there is no idea of abandoning anything on either side, but that the fight must go on in some shape or other if neither side has a just case. As to the suit, it will proceed in accordance with the law, and I imagine that my friends who are counsel on the other side would have nothing to say in that direction. It is difficult to understand why such publications should be made in El Paso when they cannot have the slightest effect upon the conduct of the prosecution or defense of the case."

Acute Aricular Rheumatism

The exact cause of rheumatism is unknown, though it is generally believed to be due to an excess of uric acid in the blood. It may be also said with equal truth that no remedy has been found which is a specific in all cases. In fact the literature of rheumatism shows that there are but few drugs which have not been given a trial. In the hands of one observer we find that a certain drug has been used with the utmost satisfaction; others have found the same remedy to be a great disappointment. All physicians however agree that every method of treatment is aided by the administration of some remedy to relieve the pain and quiet the nervous system and Dr. W. S. Schullze expresses the opinion of thousands of practitioners when he says that Anti-Kamnia tablets should be given preference over all other remedies for the relief of the pain in all forms of rheumatism. These tablets can be purchased in any quantity. They are also unsurpassed in headache, neuralgia and all pain. Ask for A-K Tablets.

THINKS CATTLE MEN SHOULD BE GETTING INTO HARMONY

Col. Ike Pryor, Vice President of American National Livestock Association Looks for Southwest Organizations to Unite.

El Paso, Tex., March 31.—Every cattle state in the union will be a member of the American National Livestock association inside of the next few years and the association will be in position to secure legislation and protection for the cattle industry that will keep the business in the front rank of American industries, in the opinion of Col. Pryor, of San Antonio, who is in the city after attending the convention at San Francisco. Mr. Pryor, whose home is in San Antonio, was elected vice president of the association at the convention.

"At the convention," said Mr. Pryor, "a total of 25 states was represented and 13 auxiliary boards sent delegates. The livestock industry of the United States, simply the cattle, represents $6,000,000,000. I should estimate that fully 50 per cent of this huge sum was represented at the convention."

"The cattlemen have never realized the absolute necessity of organization. How can a state representative or a national representative know the needs of the cattlemen unless he is informed regarding them? He must get exact figures on conditions before he can go about bettering conditions, and he cannot get these figures, or the moral backing to institute reforms, unless there is some central agency to take care of the matter from the cattlemen's standpoint."

"Within the next ten years I expect to see an organization in every state and each of these organizations a member of the national association. In a few days New Mexico will form an organization in the Southwestern New Mexico Cattle Raisers' association. Many states already have organizations, but there should be one in every cattle state. Not only should cattle be represented, but horses, sheep and swine. The sheep men have their own organization, but I hope to soon see them join with the national association."

"The Panhandle & Southwestern Stockmen's association and the Texas Cattle Raisers' association will soon combine, in my opinion. The work of both is almost exactly alike and the expenses, therefore, are just double, with results considerable below those that would be secured by one strong organization. The Texas association is the most powerful of its kind in the country. It has a membership of 2,500 and the annual dues amount to $40,000. I look to see it increase in membership to 5,000 in a short time, with dues amounting to $100,000 per annum and representing 4,000,000 cattle."

"What the cattle industry needs now is cooperation. Until this is secured, the cattle industry in the United States will never come into its own."

RELATIVE OF SHAW MAKES SOME WAR PREDICTIONS

Distant Relative of Author Says Conflict Will Probably Proceed Until Close of 1916.

Santa Fe, N. M., March 31.—Albert Shaw, a distant relative of George Bernard Shaw, and a health seeker, here to try to recover health lost in service in Belgium during the early days of the war, is quoted by the Santa Fe New Mexican, in course of a long interview on the war in Europe, as making the following predictions:

"The great European war will end by the close of 1916."

"Before that time Italy will have joined the allies to help crush the German-Austrian alliance and recover Trieste."

"The German empire will cease to exist and will appear on the new map either as a republic or in small kingdoms as before the consolidation under Bismarck."

"Germany will be stripped of all her colonies."

"The Kaiser's reign and his heavily invocations and allusions will cease."

"Peace will again be established, not to be broken soon again at a price that staggers humanity."

THIRTEEN REVOLT AND ARE RADICAL

Simla, India, March 31 (via London 5:15 p. m.)—A revolt of 13,000 tribesmen at Tochi has resulted in a battle with government troops. The tribesmen were repulsed.

The following official statement was issued today:

"Ten thousand tribesmen, composed mainly of Zadrans, collected with a view to attacking Tochi, near the Miranshah post. Government troops under Brigadier General Vane engaged the natives at dawn on the 25th, repulsing them completely, killing 200 and wounding 400. A subsequent reconnaissance shows no trace of the band."

This trouble in India is on the northwestern frontier of the empire. The Tochi is a river which rises in Afghanistan and flows in an easterly direction into the Panjab, where it joins the river Kuram. There undoubtedly is a town or a village called Tochi.

When the Turks declared a holy war, the statement was made that this course would bring about uprisings in India and during the last few months there had been various reports, some of them evidently from German sources, tending to show that unrest in India was increasing.

Last February an Indian regiment revolted at Singapore and 400 men were killed before order could be restored.

CITY OF CAMBRIDGE DODGES A SUBMARINE

London, March 31, (5:40 p. m.)—The British steamer City of Cambridge, of Glasgow, reached Liverpool today after a lively chase by a German submarine last Sunday in the neighborhood of Bishop Rock in the English channel. The submarine sent several shells at the vessel without seriously damaging her. The city of Cambridge dodged the submarine and ultimately shook it off.

Secretary Bryan said the department had taken no action and expressed no opinion on them.
